  - Correspondence Log

Heard by the Commission. Speakers Interim Director Short:

- Immediate impacts of the results of the November 8, 2022 vote on Prop B.
  - Returns Operations Division to Public Works effective January 1, 2023,
  - Undoes several elements of Prop B 2020,
  - The City Charter is silent on how the two commissions interact, so there will be a meeting with the two commission chairs,
  - The Department will focus on improving internal coordination between divisions.
- As-needed contracts provide flexibility to issue contract service orders and that there are more controls in place during procurement compared to traditional service contracts.
- Manager acting positions are not proportionally higher than other departments, but there is a domino effect when promotions happen. Additionally, there was a hiring freeze during the initial phases of the pandemic and what hiring was allowed focused on front-line workers. The Department is now focused on hiring the internal human resources positions in order to have the capacity to now hire people into permanent positions.

Commissioner Requests:

- Commissioner Woolford requested additional discussion from City staff regarding the updated Public Works Commission and Sanitation and Streets Commission responsibilities.
- Commissioner Newhouse Segal requested that an interagency working committee should be working on the implications of Prop B 2022 and that one member from each commission should be on that committee.

- Commissioner Post requested a report explaining how Public Works interacts with the 311 system at a future meeting.
